Owing to the small number present, the meeting of Stony Plain U.F. Local called for last Saturday, was postponed until next Sat. Jan. 11.

Inga Councillors to Meet

Inga Councillors meet next on Wednesday, Jan. 15th, in Stony Plain. It will be a big day, as the councillors will hold their regular session in the morning and sit as a court of revision in the afternoon. A large number of appeals have been entered by rate payers against the new assessment, this work having been done by Mr Turrel of Duffield. The greater number of the protests seem to come from the eastern part of the M. D.

To accommodate those in the western portion who are appealing from their assessments, the court of revision will hold a session at Duffield, and probably one at Carvel, if this is found necessary.

The Act calls for a revision of the assessments on farm lands every five years, and the work performed last year seems to have been done in a much more thorough manner than on former occasions.

Another subject to be dealt with by the Councillors will be the matter of the tax delinquents, the number of these at the present time being larger than any in recent years.

The Councillors who automatically retire this year are: F H Kreye, George Akin and Reeve R C Howat, with the possibility that all three will be up for re election.

Farewell to Miss Mary Enders

On Jan. 1 Miss Mary Enders was given a farewell party by all her friends. The evening was spent very enjoyably playing games, whist and singing. A dandy lunch was served, and after lunch Mr Val J Kulak gave a short address on behalf of those present. Mary was the recipient of a beautiful manicure set, as a token of remembrance. The party closed by singing "For she's a jolly good girl" and "God be with you till we meet again."

Mary was a very energetic member of Walther League since its organisation, and will long be remembered by her many friends here. She will, no doubt, be placed on the honor list of the W. L.

Canadian Art Shows Distinctive Character In Notable Collection Of National Gallery of Canada

An accession of 30 new pictures to the National Gallery of Canada, the most important group acquired at any time for any collection on this continent, has featured the general activities of that body for the past year. The various schools of ancient and modern art are now represented, to a much more substantial degree than heretofore, with the old masters retaining a prideful place alongside the enterprising and robust generation of artists whose vigor and daring have contributed distinctive character to Canadian art.

The most recent development of a stimulating phase will be displayed when, on January 23, His Excellency the Governor-General formally opens the Canadian Exhibition at the National Gallery.

It is expressed that this will be the most representative ever held in Canada, since new arrangements have now been made for the assembling of pictures. Some complaints were voiced in the House of Commons last session to the effect that in those annual displays the painters of the central provinces appeared to have entirely crowded out those from the east and west coasts; and the opinion was advanced that this might be due to prejudice on the part of those responsible. In order to obviate any such charge, the trustees have completed a scheme whereby outstanding artists of the various cities in Canada may constitute themselves advisory committees and recommend to the trustees the works of local painters. This has had the effect of bringing to light artists of hitherto unknown merit, and of assembling a collection representative of Canadian art from Halifax, N.S., to Victoria, B.C.

Many developments are fore- shadowed for the National Gallery in the near future. For some considerable time the inadequacy of the present building, which is shared with the Victoria museum and the Department of Mines, has forced itself upon the government. The restricted quarters have made it impossible for the gallery to exhibit all its treasures, and thus deprived the people of their right to enjoy their possessions. To this post war generation the most unfortunate element in this is the fact that the Canadian war memorial pictures have been forced from the gallery's walls and are now stored away, out of sight.

This collection, valued at over $100,000 and which could not under any circumstances whatever be replaced, was acquired during the war by Lord Beaverbrook's war memorial committee. The paintings depict every phase of Canadian war activity, and many outstanding battles fought by the Canadian Corps have been translated on canvas. Portraits of Canadian soldiers, Victoria Cross heroes, and well-known officers are numerous in the collection.

Modern artists of the calibre of Sir William Orpen, Augustus John A. J. Munnings, A. Y. Jackson, Cyril Bauraud and scores of others contributed to this immense group, which numbers over 1,000 pieces. Some old masters are also included—works by Romney, Lawrence, West, and Reynolds. The entire collection was given to the Canadian people nine years ago, but due to lack of room it cannot be exhibited.

Province Developing Resources

Saskatchewan Clay, Coal and Chemical Deposits Being Exploited.

The past year has been a busy one for the manufacture of clay products in Saskatchewan according to Professor W. G. Worcester, of the Ceramics Department of the University of Saskatchewan. A new plant has been started at Prince Albert during the past year for the manufacture of common brick and a plant at Estevan for terracotta and floor and wall tile. The company at Estevan has had an additional plant for the manufacture of hollow building tile.

"There has been greater development during 1929 of the mineral resources of Saskatchewan than in any previous year," Prof. Worcester claims.

"More than 100 lakes in the province have large deposits of sodium sulphate. At Englebright a depth of 150 feet has been drilled without coming to the bottom of the deposit. This chemical is now being used in metallurgical work and the Saskatchewan deposits are beginning to have a value as they are unusually pure. One firm in Canada is at present using 25,000 tons of sulphate a year from their plant near Ormiston. The sulphate is also used in the pulp industry.

"During the year the experimental briquetting plant at Estevan passed into commercial hands and is now shipping out 100 tons per day. A new process of carbonizing the lignite promises to be of great benefit to the Saskatchewan deposits."

Butter Imports

Imports Of Butter Into Canada Doubled In Past Year

Butter imports into Canada doubled in the twelve months ending November 30. The figure for the period was $11,424,000 as against $5,947,000 in the preceding twelve months. Eighty per cent of the imports of milk products remained about the same, bringing the aggregate value of $12,150,000.

In November alone, butter imports were up to $1,985,000 from $667,000 in the preceding month. Figures were made available at the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, Ottawa.

Opinion Favors Movement To Be Made To Settle Arable Lands In H. B. Railway Area

Between miles 137 and 327, on the Hudson Bay Railway, lies a vast belt of clay land awaiting to produce good crops for the pioneer who has the courage to go north and homestead. A year ago Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, declared that the government was ready to help homesteaders get a start in northern Manitoba. But there has been negligible interest to date among Canadians. Now the suggestion has been made that Menomonees be imported to start agricultural hand wagon "north of 53."

Harbored in Germany today there are thousands of Menomonees who are refugees from Russia. Menomonees, who have settled in western Canada in recent years have become known as good farmers, hard-working, businesslike and peace loving. At the present time prominent westerners argue that federal authorities should make restrictions to allow these refugees to pioneer in the northland.

The entire matter will likely come before northern boards of trade after new year. In northern Manitoba the opinion is growing that a move must be made soon to settle the agricultural regions in the Hudson Bay Railway area.

In a recent editorial headed "A Chance For The Menomonees," The Northern Mail, of The Pas, remarked that "the Menomonees are good farmers and the kind of work they can be pioneers. If they were shown this great belt of northern country early next spring, with its proximity to the markets of the world, its rich clay soil, its lumber, its fur and its bordering lakes and rivers teeming with fish, they would be interested."

"They could start a farming community in the north country, and with some government help could prosper."

About 17 varieties of wheat have been grown beyond The Pas. Not all of the tests have been eminently successful, but plenty of progress has been made to prove that fortunes in agriculture lie dormant in northern Manitoba.

The clay belt contiguous to the Bay line is an extension of the Ontario belt, says a recent report of the Federal Department of Agriculture. Last summer, an expert agriculturist of the experimental farms branch, made a survey of the territory between Hudson Bay Junction, Sask., and Mile 445 of the Bay Railway.

In a summary of his tour, he said: "From Mile 137 to 327 the line passes through the clay belt and there is much good soil not hampered by rock, that, once drained from muskeg, will make good agricultural territory. Most of the mining people think a person is insane who appears in the north country to seek agricultural possibilities. Notwithstanding this lack of faith, I am convinced that when this territory is needed for settlement, the possibilities are there."

And dairy farming is another industry that would flourish in the north country. Of course, it will naturally follow land settlement.

Wooded terrain predominates from

Hudson Bay Junction to The Pas. And heavy timber continues to Cormorant, Mile 42, on the Bay Road. There are also many outcroppings of rock. Gardens are numerous at Cormorant, however, and trial plots of wheat, oats and barley were ripe on August 25, when the agriculturist inspected them. Wheat samples included Garnet, Reward, Ceres, Marquis, and Minden. The stands were from 40 to 48 inches in height. Alaska, Gopher, Banner and Victory were included in the oats samples.

At Mile 195, George Cowan boasts a good flower and vegetable garden. The touring agriculturist was surprised at the flourishing fruit trees. The crab apple and the plum trees were in fine shape, and a good crop of raspberries was harvested. Potato yield was again splendid, and Garnet, Reward and Ceres wheats grew well. Oats and barley were more than satisfactory.

Two homesteads are established at Mile 214. Garden plots are good, but conclusions as to general soil fertility cannot be reached until next year. Mile 237 produced a bumper crop of vegetables, including lettuce, onions, peas and potatoes. "Vegetables prospered at Mile 237 this season."

General farming has not been attempted beyond Mile 327, but once settlement is under way the march of the agricultural frontier northward will progress on its own momentum.

Saskatchewan Fisheries

Total Value Of Catch More Than Half A Million Annually

The fact that Saskatchewan fisheries run to a total value of more than $500,000 annually is of particular interest, in view of the negotiations now pending for the return of the natural resources. Fish caught in Lake Athabasca, the greater part of which lies in Saskatchewan, are not included. For some reason federal authorities in making their reports, give Alberta credit for all the fish caught in that lake, and the value in 1928, the last year for which figures are available, was $256,000. Cold Lake is another for which Alberta gets full credit, but in that case the greater part of the lake is in Alberta, and the total catch is light.

The varieties of fish caught commercially in the province are gold-eyes, herrings, mixed fish, pickerel, pike, sturgeon, millets, trout (lake), tullibee and whitefish, the latter having a market value of $439,976.

Claim Is Discounted

Isolation Of Flu Germ Not Yet Accomplished, Says Medical Journal

Publishing the preliminary report of Dr. I. S. Falk, on his isolation of the influenza germ, the Journal of the American Medical Association says that while Dr. Falk's work is of great interest, it does not warrant the assumption that the way to an influenza vaccine has been found.

The journal asserts that "to intimidate" as was said in numerous interviews, editorials and other publicity relative to this discovery, that the way is now clear for vaccine or antitoxin or any other specific method of treating influenza is to far beyond the actual evidence provided by this bacteriological research.

British Nobility Farmers

About Fifteen Thousand Acres Of Alberta Farm Land Held By British Nobility

About 15,000 acres of farm lands in Alberta are now owned by titled members of the British nobility. Of these, the Duke of Sutherland carries the largest holdings. The Duke of Sutherland and the Sutherland Land Company own 9,207 acres. Earl Minto is the second largest holder, with 1,908 acres. He is closely followed by the Prince of Wales, whose famous E.P. ranch consists of 1,655 acres. In addition to this, however, the Prince leases another 1,440 acres, so that his total holdings are 3,095 acres, which brings him, actually, into second place.

Lord Cheylesmore has 1,380 acres to his name in Alberta, and Lord Rodney, 615 acres. The Earl of Egmont still holds 320 acres near Priddis, in Southern Alberta.

Logging In Northern Alberta Is Slack

Lumber Carried Over From Last Year Slows Up Work

Logging will be slack in northern Alberta this winter and there will not be the usual stir at the lumber camps. According to the manager of one lumber company, not more than 25 per cent. of the ordinary winter's logging will be done this coming season. The chief reason given for this is the enormous carry-over of lumber from last season.

This carry-over is due in large measure to the dry summer and consequent reduction in the wheat yield. The lumber business was dull all summer as a result of a drought affecting the farmers' building operations, many farmers having cancelled their plans for new buildings when the crops began to show the full effects of the dry summer.

Besides this there was a much smaller program of elevator-building in the country than in 1928, which was a record year. One big lumber firm states that its carry-over is 15,000,000 feet, the largest in the company's history.

Enough cars were produced in the first nine months of 1929 to lay all pedestrians and cars to rest. That subsequent knocking you hear is done by your friends.

WINDOLITE The Improved Glass Substitute

COMES WITH A MESSAGE OF HEALTH

THE sun is the all-powerful life producer. Nature's universal disinfectant and germ destroyer, as well as stimulant and tonic. WINDOLITE is the sun's most important ally.

Medical research has definitely proved that from the point of view of Health and Hygiene, the most effective among the sun's rays, are the Ultra-Violet rays, which possess the greatest power for the prevention and cure of disease and debility.

Science has further established that ordinary window glass does not allow the passage of Ultra-Violet rays, so that by using glass we are artificially excluding these vital health-giving rays. Therefore, the invention of WINDOLITE has completely satisfied the long-felt want. Exhaustive experiments have conclusively proved that it is a most effective substitute for glass, that it freely admits the Ultra-Violet rays, and that its use has a most beneficial effect on the growth and development of plants and chickens and on the well-being of cattle, enabled for the first time to have healthy light instead of darkness in their sheds.

Indeed, the discovery of WINDOLITE has during the last six years been a most revolutionary development, giving a new stimulus to poultry breeding, increasing the egg-laying capacity and fertility of chickens, has greatly improved the health of cattle and is now being used in domestic and household requirements.

GENERAL SMUTS HAS FAITH IN THE WORK OF LEAGUE

Ottawa.—The League of Nations and its outstanding development along lines never contemplated by those responsible for its establishment furnished the theme of an interview accorded by General Jan Christian Smuts, former prime minister of South Africa, to newspapermen who called upon him at the home of Sir Robert Borden, war-time premier of Canada. The distinguished South African reached Ottawa on his first visit to Canada, and will be Sir Robert's guest during his stay.

Soldier, statesman, and scholar, General Smuts is one of the romantic figures of empire history. In arms against Great Britain thirty years ago, he is now one of the bulwarks of British authority and one of the strongest protagonists of a British connection. General Smuts recalled the Boer War to the newspapermen somewhat whimsically. According to their permission to smoke, he himself refused the offer of a cigar, asserting his own non-smoking disposition.

"I haven't smoked for 30 years," he said with a smile. "Not since you Canadians and the British made tobacco so expensive and so hard to get during the Boer War."

"How do you square your conscience with that attitude and the general desire of South Africa to boost its tobacco products?" asked one of the reporters.

"My conscience doesn't trouble me at that score," replied General Smuts.

During the late war General Smuts served with Van Deventer in German South Africa and was later transferred to East Africa to command the British in succession to General Sir Horace Smith-Dorrien. This campaign he successfully prosecuted. Recalling this phase of his distinguished career, he declared that his recent meeting in London with his old enemy and friend, General Von Lettow-Vorbeck, who had commanded the German forces in East Africa, was one of the greatest things he had ever experienced.

"I believe a reunion of that character will do a great deal of good, for it will indicate more than anything else the changed mentality of the world."

"I am here under the auspices of the League of Nations primarily," said General Smuts, in answer to another question. "But I welcomed the opportunity to visit Canada and the United States for the reason that I have not been on this continent before."

He will visit Montreal, Toronto, New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Washington and Cincinnati.

"The League of Nations," he said, "has developed along lines that were totally unforeseen by those who established it ten years ago. It is like a tree. You plant a seed, but you have no indication just in what fashion that seed will grow. So with the league. We did not foresee ten years ago just the form it has taken today. But its greatest value has lain in the fact that it provides a forum in which the representatives of the nations can sit around the table and discuss their problems. More than that, it makes this practice habitual. And once you get people talking out their troubles around the table, then the war mentality disappears."

Cannot Purchase Seed Oats

Department Of Agriculture In Saskatchewan Reaches Limit Of Authority

Saskatoon. — "The Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture has reached the limit of its authority to purchase seed oats," says a letter received by the United Farmers of Canada from the field crops at Regina.

"If, however," says the letter, "any of your members wish to submit their holdings with a view to any possible subsequent purchases, they should submit a full crop sample to the office of the field crops branch and at the same time send a sample to the Dominion Seed Branch at Saskatoon, for a germination test."

A New Year's Tragedy

Seventy Children Perish In Moving Picture Theatre Fire, In Scotland Paisley, Scotland.—With 70 of its children dead, 11 fighting for their lives, and 26 others in hospital, this drab factory town faced the New Year with a broken heart.

Gone was any feeling in festivities. Not even a message of sympathy from the King and Queen could help much. There was a promise of three investigations into the recent tragedy, in which so many children came to grief during a fire panic at the Glen Cinema, but this could not put joy in bereft homes.

A movement was started here and in London for a relief fund.

Relentless rain beat down all day upon Paisley. It began last night while yet frantic parents fought to enter the mortuary and identify their dead. It beat down on Paisley Square, where at midnight, true to Scot traditions, a little group of men and women gathered to sing "Auld Lang Syne" as the clock struck 12. The voices broke and ended with sobbing trailing off in the rain.

It was the tragedy of "door that jammed." The actual cause of the panic is now said to have been the inability of the assistant operator to open a side door when running away from the burning film. Before the door could be opened flames spread through the building and terrified the children scrambling for the exit.

Firemen and helpers found children on the stage, in the orchestra pit, everywhere, none in their terror tried to climb the moving picture screen. "The scene on the stairway," says Deputy Firemaster Wilson, "made even seasoned firemen shudder. For ten children were packed tightly together in every imaginable position, like a wall of cement bags."

It is considered doubtful if some of the rescued children will ever fully recover from their experience. One little boy was found in a corner with bodies piled above his waist. When firemen reached him he was looking upwards, gesticulating, as if trying to push some horror back with his hands. He still thought he was fighting for his life.

India Nationalist Congress

Serious Split Occurs In Ranks Of Followers At Gathering, At Lahore

Lahore, India. — A serious split arose in the ranks of the all-India Nationalist Congress as the gathering concluded amidst cries of "bandana tram" (hail the Motherland).

Under the leadership of Srinivasa Aiyengar and Subash Bose, 30 members of the Congress walked out and, in a protest meeting, formed a "Democratic" party within the congress.

The minority had demanded representation on the new working committee and when the congress accepted the list as a whole, the disgruntled members walked out, one delegate remarking that the committee could scarcely complain, since the congress had sanctioned such walkouts from the legislative councils.

The dissident group announced that the work of the congress would be carried on by them in principle.

The congress, however, elected the list as proposed by Mahatma Gandhi, Nationalist leader, omitting the names of Srinivasa Aiyengar and Subash Bose. Gandhi, in the congress, had urged the new working committee should include only those who were entirely sympathetic toward the congressional platform.

In his final address to the congress, President Jawaharlal Nehru precipitated the "hail the motherland" cry from 15,000 throats when he declared that India's cry for independence has already resounded throughout the world, and that Indians beyond the borders of their country are now enabled to hold their heads high.

Soviets Abolish New Years

Moscow.—Business as usual was the order for this New Year's Day, which has been consigned to the limbo of "abolished" days together with other holidays and Sundays in the Soviet Union. The New Year's tradition though is too deeply rooted to be wiped out by a legal edict. In thousands of Russian homes the advent of 1930 was hailed amidst merry-making greatly stimulated by the effects of vodka.

Japan Wants Adequate Navy

But Is Not Seeking Equal Parity With U.S. and Britain

Ottawa.—The views of the Japanese Government on the disarmament conference, to be held this month, were expressed by Hon. I. M. Tokugawa, Japanese minister to Canada, in an interview here, in a succinct manner. Mr. Tokugawa, who recently returned to Washington, outlined the views of his government in the following manner:

"The motto expressing Japan's requirements is adequate for defence; inadequate for aggression," he said.

Japan does not seek equal parity with British or the United States navy. The national conviction of Japan is that her minimum defence strength expressed in terms of ratio is 70 per cent. of the strength to be maintained by the strongest navy.

Japan is opposed to the abolition of submarines, the minister declared. In the first place, submarines are a type of warship necessary for the defence of a nation having an inferior naval strength.

Japan is willing to abandon the existing program for having more submarines than at present, but deems it necessary to retain practically the same strength as she actually possesses.

Carloads Of Farm Tractors

North Portal, Sask.—A solid train of 35 cars of farm tractors in the C.P.R. yards here attracted considerable attention. The big shipment totalling 140, four to a flat car, was shipped from Charles City, Iowa, by the Iowa Oliver Farm Equipment Co., and destined to farm implement agencies in Calgary, Lethbridge and 30 Alberta towns. A second train load will follow the middle of January.

Sixteen Executed Last Year

Ottawa.—According to official figures just made public, 16 people were executed in Canada last year—seven in Quebec, four in Ontario, three in Saskatchewan, one in Alberta, and one in British Columbia.

Will Discuss Many Subjects

Private Members Of Federal Parliament To Take Active Part In Next Session

Ottawa.—Parliament at its coming session faces an unprecedented variety of subjects for discussion. The speech from the throne, the tariff, the budget and estimates—all milestones in the progress of each session of Canadian parliaments—will naturally debatably. But the millions of words which are uttered between the time parliament convenes and progresses, private members purpose at the approaching session to play a considerable and diversified part in discussion.

Nationalization of the supply of radium; increased subsidies to the maritime provinces; establishment of chairs of international peace and international scholarships in Canadian universities; continuation of Dominion assistance to technical education and to highways; Dominion grants for provincial health units; and development of the St. Lawrence waterway by treaty between Canada and the United States; curtailment of assistance to immigrants; proposal that estimates be considered by special standing committees before submission to committee of the whole and interim credits for agriculture—all these are scheduled for discussion on the floor of the House of Commons at the session to open in February.

The Canadian Conscience

Dominion Exchequer In Receipt Of Money From Anonymous Donors

Ottawa, Ont.—The Canadian conscience is improving. The year 1929 will mark payment into the Dominion exchequer of more than $500 in conscience money. Two dollars is the usual amount grating at the conscience of the sender.

From east, west, north and south, with only the post office stamp indicating the place origin, envelopes containing "conscience money" have been reaching the department of finance. The sender takes little or no chance of his identity being disclosed. Government officials never seek to find out.

Bills are usually wrapped in blank note paper. Seldom, if ever, is the nature of the indebtedness revealed by the sender. But, occasionally, a terse note with the words "conscience" or "income tax" accompanies the money.

New Year's, Christmas and Easter are the greatest "revenue" periods for Canada from this source.

Finds New Territory

Australian Explorer Discovers Unknown Land In Antarctic

Montevideo, Uruguay.—The government radio service has announced receipt of a message saying that Sir Hubert Wilkins, Australian explorer, had discovered territories previously unknown in his last flight over the southern Polar ice cap. Details of the new lands were not given.

The message came from the steamer "Melville" which carried the explorer to Deception Island, which he uses as his base.

POSTPONED HONEYMOON

Grahame Longley, mechanic of the leading MacAlpine rescue plane, is one man who kept his bride-to-be waiting and got away with it. The wedding had to be postponed twice when the groom searched for the North for the lost adventurers. He is shown with his bride, the former Irene Kennington, of Winnipeg, about to board the special train from Montreal en route to England by the Canadian Pacific Liner, "Duchess of Richmond."

TRANS-CANADA AIR MAIL SERVICE MAY SOON COME

Ottawa.—Canada is rolling her map northward. The cry to go West is giving way to the cry of the coast of the West. And, in pushing back the frontier—with untold millions in riches of the Canadian northland as the magnet—the Dominion's air mail service is playing a leading role. More than 1,000,000 miles have been traversed in the closing year of 1929 by Canada's air mail planes. Nearly another million miles in air mail service will be added for 1930 at the opening on February 1, of the Winnipeg-Regina-Calgary air mail route with offshoots to Saskatoon, North Battleford and Edmonton.

To 300 miles within the Arctic circle, Canadian mail planes travel. Oil, gold, silver, copper, nickel and fur-trapping centres in Ontario, Quebec and Western Canada today are being served by these aerial mail carriers, making more habitable the bleak wood districts with little or no road. In Ontario's northland, the Red Lake and Narrow Lake mining centres have their regular deliveries of mail by air.

Today, twelve air mail routes are in operation: Montreal-Detroit; Montreal-Albany; Toronto-Buffalo; Montreal-Ottawa; Montreal-Rimouski; Quebec-Saint-John; Quebec-Anticosti; Moncton-Magadalen Islands; Leamington-Pelee Islands; Narrow Lake-Sioux Lookout; Lac Du Bonnet-Bisset; Fort McMurray-Alberta; Montreal-Saint John, and Okeana-Chibougamau.

Two great connecting links which would complete a trans-Canada air mail service are mooted for the near future, one from Montreal to Winnipeg; the other from Calgary, Lethbridge or Edmonton to Vancouver. Early in the new year Canadian air officials contemplate making a survey to determine the best route from Alberta to the Pacific Coast. This fact lends color to the probability that parliament may be asked at the next session to make the necessary appropriations for these new routes. An air mail service of one business day and two nights from Montreal to Vancouver is the goal.

Canada Exporting More Manufactured Goods

Review Shows Great Increase For Year Just Closed

Ottawa.—Canada is exporting more manufactured and semi-manufactured goods now than ever before. At the same time, largely because of the stoppage in the selling of wheat, there has been a marked decrease in the total volume of exports of raw materials. Annual reviews, setting forth the trade statistics for the year, were prepared by Hon. James Malcolm, Minister of Trade and Commerce.

The review points out that industrial activity, measured by exports, was at a record high level in the year just closed. Industrial employment was at a generally higher level than in 1928; construction contracts were at a higher peak than ever before; the aggregate value of cheques passed through chartered banks was the highest in the history of Canada; a new high record of money was invested by the public in life insurance policies and production in basic industries such as iron and steel, newspaper, coal and coal-mining, automobiles and electric energy all showed substantial increase over previous years.

The minister announces further that while the department of trade and commerce has already done much to supply necessary channels for Canadian manufactures and producers to export their wares, namely, a trade commissioners' service, further extensions in the direction are being planned for the immediate future.

There's a wild streak in Capt. Orlebar who flew the British plane 368 miles an hour. He is a croquet addict.

California's orange crop would fill a train of box cars extending from Boston to New York, and six miles beyond.

The Singing Fool

SYNOPSIS

Al Stone, singing waiter at Blackie Joe's New York night club, marries Molly Winton, a ballet singer, not knowing he is loved by Grace Farrell, a loyal little cigarette girl. After Al's fame as a composer of popular songs, Molly elopes with John Perry, taking her baby, Junior, as she sails for France. Al, broken by the loss of his son, becomes a derelict, but is saved by Grace Farrell. Molly obtains a Paris divorce from Al, but Perry deserts her. Junior is taken ill. In New York Al secures a success as a revue singer and plans to marry Grace. The couple arrive at the theatre one night happy because of the news of Molly's divorce.

CHAPTER XXIX.

They were both radiant as they approached the doorkeeper.

"How are you, Shakespeare?" called Al, clapping the old man on the back. "Then, quick as a wink, he snatched the chewed stub from the doorkeeper's mouth and replaced it with a four bit perfect. The oldtimer smiled delightedly and saluted as Al and Grace went on into the theatre.

A group of chorus girls, hoofers and singers, who went on early, were already standing near the wings, giggling and laughing. They turned to greet Al and Grace.

"I think Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is wonderful! I have had six children of which four are living and my youngest is a bonable baby boy now eight months old who weighs 23 pounds. I have taken your medicine before each of them was born and have certainly received great benefit from it. I urge my friends to take it as I am sure they will receive the same help I did."

"Pretty soft for the little old blackface comedian, strolling in here at show time, and doesn't have to go on until nine," said a vivacious soubrette, smiling gaily.

"Soft is right," agreed Al. "You don't think I'd be in this revue if there was any hard work to do?"

The soubrette laughed. She and the others knew that Al was really the hardest worker in the show. He linked his arm familiarly in that of the little singer, pretending to glance apprehensively toward Grace.

"Let's step out tonight—you and me!" he remarked, sotto voce, to the soubrette. "Supper—wine—music—eh? What do you say?"

Again he looked toward Grace, but she only stuck out her tongue at him ever so slightly and refused to become jealous.

Meanwhile, the soubrette had drawn away in mock hauteur. "Sir, I don't know you. Besides I've an engagement after the show with four great big oil-and-money men from the southwest."

"That's three too many," said Al lightly and, slipping his arm around Grace, he stroiled on toward his dressing room.

He was in good humor tonight, not only because he realized that he and Grace were soon to be married, but because he had at last persuaded Grace to leave Blackie Joe's. She had hung onto that job of hers at Blackie's like grim death, refusing to give it up until recently.

"I'd feel lost without it, Al," she had said when he first broached the subject of her leaving. "Besides, I feel loyal to Blackie. He's looked after me and protected me."

"Yes," said Al, "but you've been there four years. That's long enough. Blackie will hate to lose you, but he'll be good about it. I want you to have some rest."

So Al had his way; just today Grace had said good-bye to Blackie's and given up her tiny room in the Waverley Place lodging house to move up to more palatial quarters.

As they headed through the backstage corridors a page hurried up to Al.

"A lady wants you on the 'phone, Mr. Stone."

"A lady," repeated Al. "What is this strange power I have over women? Was it a blonde or a brunette voice?"

The page boy grinned while Al went off to answer the 'phone. Grace strolled slowly after him, wondering who was calling. She saw him pick up the receiver and hear him say casually:

"Yes, this is Mr. Stone speaking; who's this?"

Then Grace saw a pained, almost bitter expression pass across his features. His face went pale and he slapped his hand over the transmitter and turned to whisper:

"It's Molly."

A stab of pain shot through Grace. Had her fear that Molly would turn up to make trouble come true? Al drew back from the 'phone as if he would hang up; then he reconsidered.

"What is it?" he asked coldly. Grace saw him nod, then he hung up the receiver and turned to her again.

"Molly says to come to the Good Samaritan Hospital as fast as I can."

"Why?"

"She didn't say. Simply that, and hung up. I wonder if it's a trick of some kind?"

Grace's eyes narrowed; her heart was throbbing hard and fast. But she forced herself to say:

"You ought to go, Al."

"I suppose so. Yet every time Molly has come into my life it has meant misery."

Yes, but—" Grace paused. "You think there's anything the matter with your boy?"

The suggestion electrified Al into action. "I'll go! And you wait here, Grace. I'll be right back." He ran toward the stage door. When Grace reached it he was already in his car and the motor was whirling. She saw him shoot down the alley and out toward the lights of Broadway.

It was the theatre hour—the streets were loaded with traffic. It seemed to Al that he would never be able to force his way through the jam. But finally he did work out of the theatrical section and went speeding along a quieter street, then out the Avenue.

How did Molly happen to be in America so quickly after her divorce; why had she called him; was Junior ill? These questions and a swarm of other queries raced across Al's mind.

Dr. Guild's GREEN MOUNTAIN ASTHMA COMPOUND

He sat at the wheel, with grim face and fixed, tortured eyes. Sheer force of habit took him through the traffic unscathed.

He recalled Junior as he had seen him last on that memorable afternoon in the park, roly-poly and the picture of health. It seemed to himself impossible that anything tragic could have happened to his beloved child. Surely Grace was wrong.

But Grace was right. In a tiny bed at the Good Samaritan lay Junior, his eyes listless, his face waxed and as white as the sheets, except for a tiny crimson spot on each cheek. He roused himself, finally, and whispered to Molly, who hovered over him:

"Is Daddy coming? I want my Daddy?"

Molly had been standing by Junior's bedside, rigid with fear. As he spoke she leaned over quickly and touched his tiny, thin fingers.

"Yes, darling, Daddy will be here soon. He's on his way. Just a few moments and you'll see him."

Junior turned away from her with a sigh and his eyes closed, as if the strain of his question had taken his fast-fading strength. He did not see the expression of agony on his mother's face and her tears that fell unchecked on the coverlet.

Now four years had passed and he tapped Molly on the arm. She followed him from the little white room into the hallway, clasping her hands before her as she gazed beseechingly up into his eyes. Her face was aged by the terrible experiences she had lived through during the past few weeks.

"Is there any hope?"

"I'm afraid not," said the doctor gently. "The thing has made too much of her. Her lungs are almost entirely gone. He hasn't the strength to fight the disease."

Molly turned away, sobbing convulsively. She didn't want to hear details if there was no hope. She realized only too well that her own neglect of Junior had started him toward this tragic condition. After Perry's desertion of her in France she had reclaimed her boy, but it was too late. She had seen him waste away before her eyes, in spite of all the French doctors could do. Finally, in a panic, she had raced to Cherbourg and taken a fast liner to America. Then another race to the hospital when they arrived in New York City a few days before. Not until the terrible fear seized her that Junior was really dying did she call Al.

She glanced out the hallway window to see a sport car swoop up the street to the curb and stop. Al jumped out and ran toward the hospital entrance. Molly met him.

Canada and Air Traffic

All Air Highways Of Northern Hemisphere Will Pass Through Dominion

Addressing the Canadian Club, of Montreal, on expanding trade prospects in Canada, John W. Dufresne, managing editor of the Manitoba Free Press pointed out that, "all the air highways of the northern hemisphere pass through Canada, not the United States. The route from New York to the cities of Asia will pass, not through San Francisco or other ports of the Pacific states, but over the Canadian border up to Toronto and then north to Nome. The route from the central states to Europe will go north to Winnipeg." He added that not certain sections of Canada but the whole of the Dominion would benefit by the air traffic in question.

Queer Animals In Zoo

In the "Aye-Ayes," the old London Zoo has a pair of the weirdest animals in the world. They have been referred to as the animal night mares. They are about the size of a cat, have large, bushy tails and a head resembling that of a bat. The body is covered with long, streaked fur. Its middle finger resembles that of a human. They are great egg eaters.

Drought-Resisting Animals

South African Sheep Manage In City Without Water For Three Years

A flock of 600 sheep on the South African Government farm at Graaff Reinet, have just had their first drink of water for three years, but many, having lost their taste for it, turned away disgusted.

These sheep have been the subjects of prolonged experiment as drought-resisting animals, and during the whole period they have been fed on oil cake and prickly pear only, without any form of liquid.

It has been found the prickly pear—which hitherto has been regarded as a grave menace to farmers in South Africa and Australia, where thousands of acres have been ruined by it—contains all the necessary moisture to sustain livestock indefinitely.

During the three years lambing and the wool yield have been perfectly normal.

DO NOT NEGLECT

YOUR LITTLE ONES

At no time of life is delay or neglect so serious as at childhood. The ill of little ones come quickly and unless the mother is prompt in administering treatment a precious little life may be snuffed almost before the mother realizes the baby is ill. The prudent mother always keeps something in the medicine chest as a safeguard against the sudden illness of her little ones. Thousands of mothers have found through experience, that there is no other medicine like Baby's Own Tablets and that is why they always keep a box of the Tablets on hand—why they always feel safe with the Tablets.

Baby's Own Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which by regulating the bowels and stomach banish constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers and promote healthy, natural sleep. Concerning them, Mrs. Isaac Sonia, St. Eugene, Ont., writes:—"I have been using Baby's Own Tablets ever since baby was a month old and have found that they reach the spot and do more good than any other medicine I have ever tried. I always keep the Tablets in the house and would advise all other mothers to do so."

The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Hurdy Gurdy Must Go

The picturesque hurdy-gurdy and its monkey are doomed on the streets of Havana, Cuba. The mayor has issued an edict barring them from the city streets. It has been decided that the organ grinder and his monkey fall under the ordinance which prohibits unnecessary noises on the streets.

"Thy kingdom come." — Matthew vi. 10.

Thy kingdom come with power and grace

To every heart of man; Thy peace, Thy joy, Thy righteousness, In all our bosoms reign.

—Charles Wesley.

The kingdom of heaven is not come when God's will is our law; it is come when God's will is our will. While God's will is our law we are but a kind of noble slaves; when His will is our will we are free children.

Philamon had gone forth to see the world, and he had seen it; and he had learned that God's kingdom was not a kingdom of fanatics yelling for a doctrine, but of willing, loving obedient hearts.—Charles Kingsley.

Lake Winnipeg Whitefish

Research workers and biologists are interesting themselves in the whitefish shortage at Lake Winnipeg. They claim that this water can support 50,000 whitefish, whereas it has only approximately 6,000,000.

The cheapness of Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator puts it within reach of all, and it can be got at any drugist's.

Needless Pain!

Nowadays, people take Aspirin for many little aches and pains, and as often as they encounter any pain.

Why not? It is a proven antidote for pain. It works!

And Aspirin tablets are absolutely harmless. You have the medical profession's word for that; they do not depress the heart.

So, don't let a cold "run its course." Don't wait for a headache to "wear off." Or regard neuralgia, neuritis, or even rheumatism as something you must endure. Only a physician can cope with the cause of such pain, but you can always turn to an Aspirin tablet for relief.

Aspirin is always available, and it never fails to help. Familiarize yourself with its many uses, and avoid a riot of needless suffering.
